ANTIQUES TRADE GAZETTE

JUNE 17, 2023

Antiques Trade gazette
The Art Market Weekly

ISSUE 2597 | 17 June 2023

antiquestradegazette.com

Dealers launch special celebration of portraits

by Frances Allitt

Art dealers across the UK are unveiling portrait exhibitions to mark the reopening of the National Portrait Gallery (NPG) this month.

The wave of shows is part of Portrait Mode launched by the NPG.

More than 80 organisations are participating, showcasing the range of portraiture available to see and buy ahead of the institution's

Heads up

Find out why this remarkable portrait and lifelike doll had a good not bad hair day

Antiques Trade gazette
The Art Market Weekly

ISSUE 2597 | 17 June 2023

Dealers launch special celebration of portraits

by Frances Allitt

Art dealers across the UK are unveiling portrait exhibitions to mark the reopening of the National Portrait Gallery (NPG) this month.

The wave of shows is part of Portrait Mode launched by the NPG.

More than 80 organisations are participating, showcasing the range of portraiture available to see and buy ahead of the institution's unveiling on June 22.

The NPG closed to the

Continued on page 5

Left: as part of Portrait Mode Maas Gallery offers Enigma by John Bernard Munns (1869-1942) of Edgbaston. It is one of a pair of Bellini-esque subject pictures he exhibited at the Royal Academy in 1925. It is thought to depict his 23-year-old daughter Una, who designed jewellery, and is offered during the show for £28,000.

Auction Reports: Market-fresh collection in a range of disciplines boosts sa

Fri 16 to Sun 18 June
SCAN TO BUY TICKETS
Tues 20 & W
Shepton
The Largest Antiques Fair in the West
FRI, SAT & SUN
ROYAL BATH & WEST SHOWGROUND
SOMERSET BA4 6QN
iacf · 01636 702326 · www.iacf.co.uk
Ardingl
TUES & WEDS
SOUT
WE

17 June 2023, Issue 2597

The launch of The Limner Company and our first selling exhibition were featured the Antiques Trade Gazette in 2023.

READ ONLINE